

END EAVORS FOR VOICES

lively interdisciplinary conversations
: a colloquium in African American Studies that showcases works in progress

Thursday, April 16, 2015, 11:45 am–1:15 pm

Gordon Parks Room (201, 81 Wall Street)

Jessica Matuozzi

PhD Candidate, Yale Departments of African American Studies and English

“War by Other Means: Black Radicals and the Fiction of Drug Rehabilitation, 1966-1974”

Jessica Matuozzi is a fifth-year doctoral candidate in Yale's English and African-American Studies departments. She is currently working on her dissertation, entitled Busted: The War on Drugs in American Culture. She has been published in English Literary History and has an article on Wallace Thurman forthcoming in the Encyclopedia of African-American Culture, ed. Gerald Early. Her other research interests include anarchist studies and cultural historiography.

Sponsored by the Department of African American Studies

Questions? Contact Lisa Monroe (lisa.monroe@yale.edu), Department of African-American Studies

Twitter: @yalefamstudies

facebook.com/Yalefamstudies | afamstudies.yale.edu